- ANALYST TRAINING PROGRAM -

The ONTARIO ASSOCIATION OF JUNGIAN ANALYSTS (OAJA) is a non-profit corporation devoted to furthering an understanding of analytical psychology as developed by C.G. Jung. OAJA was admitted to group membership in the International Association for Analytical Psychology (IAAP) at the Eleventh International Congress of the IAAP in 1989. Group membership authorizes OAJA to train acceptable candidates to become Jungian analysts, who subsequently are accredited by the IAAP.

Applications for admission to the programme in September 2013 will be accepted until January 1, 2013. Early application is advised.

The College of Registered Psychotherapists and Registered Mental Health Therapists of Ontario is expected to come into force in April 2013. Registration will be an individual matter with examinations from the College. OAJA graduates will be suitably prepared and can meet all the College requirements for specific milestones such as supervision hours, client hours, learning hours, etc. The OAJA Training Program will be making changes to our previously published graduation requirements and these will apply only to candidates planning to practice in Ontario and who are not already members of a College that grants them access to the Controlled Act of psychotherapy.

The length of the OAJA training programme is a minimum of eight semesters, in two stages. Stage One (minimum four semesters) will offer instruction designed to prepare candidates for examinations prior to advancing to Stage Two. Stage Two (minimum four semesters) will provide for continuing instruction, client work, case supervision, and case colloquia.

Upon successful completion of the programme, a Diploma in Analytical Psychology will be awarded, certifying that the recipient is deemed capable of working as a Jungian analyst. After the graduate has submitted an application for membership to the Ontario Association of Jungian Analysts and it has been approved, membership in the International Association for Analytical Psychology is conferred.

Overall, the training programme will be comprised of three major components:

1. On-going personal analysis, the indispensable core of training, which supports the candidate's maturation and facilitates the individual's relationship with the psyche;
2. The acquisition of a comprehensive body of theoretical and academic subject matter which is necessary to work effectively as a Jungian analyst;
3. Supervision of the candidate's analytic and therapeutic work with clients.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE Since only well-qualified applicants can be considered for admission, a careful screening and selection process is necessary. This will put particular emphasis on life-experience and personal qualities.

PRE-REQUISITES FOR APPLICATION:

1. Analysis: At least 100 hours of personal Jungian analysis with an IAAP member by January 1, 2013, minimum 25 hours in the past year (exceptions considered, but first contact the Registrar for further information).
2. Education: A graduate degree or equivalent.
3. Age: 30 minimum (exceptional cases considered, contact the Registrar for further information). Note: Candidates in other IAAP training programmes cannot be considered at this time.

Applicants must send the following (with 5 copies of all documents) to the Registrar:

1. Verification of analytic hours.
2. Transcripts of education (1 original, 4 copies).
3. Three sealed letters of reference (not from personal analyst or member of OAJA).
4. A statement of life history, including applicant's interest in analytical psychology (max. 10 pages, double-spaced).
5. Completed Application Form (see below).
6. Application fee of $250 (non-refundable).

Note: Applicants accepted as candidates will be required to have 150 hours of face-to-face analysis during Stage One before acceptance to Stage Two. All 150 hours must be with a member of OAJA.

Submit applications before January 1, 2013, to:

REVIEW AND INTERVIEW PROCESS

Subsequent to an initial screening, applicants deemed suitable for consideration as candidates will be contacted and directed to arrange interviews with a Selection Committee composed of three OAJA analysts. Usually, each applicant will be interviewed twice by each of the three analysts ($80 plus GST per interview, payable to the analyst). Unanimous approval by Selection Committee analysts is required for acceptance as a training candidate. The interview process will focus on the personal development and maturity of the individual, previous experience and/or evidence of special aptitude in the realm of psychological relationships and the potential for becoming a Jungian analyst. Professional experience/certification in a clinical/psychotherapeutic field may be considered an asset; however, the demonstrated capacity and potential for depth psychological understanding, and the personal self-awareness and sensitivity necessary for psychological consciousness in an analytic encounter, will be of primary importance. Successful applicants will be notified by April 1, 2013, after an overall review by all Selection Committees.

TUITION

From September 2013, all new candidates will be on a new 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance'. At this time, the cost of the 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance' is $3220.00 per semester. The new 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance' is payable every semester they are enrolled in the OAJA training programme. Successful applicants who withdraw from the programme between acceptance and September 1, 2013, will forfeit 50% of tuition fees paid. All fees are subject to change in the future.

OVERALL STRUCTURE OF THE PROGRAMME

The programme year consists of two semesters: from September to November or December, and from January to May (at least 8 months). Instruction will be provided in the form of lectures, seminars, and workshops, led by local and out-of-town Jungian analysts and other authorities in their field. These will be scheduled once per month over a long weekend (typically Thursday and Friday evenings, all day Saturday and Sunday).

General Curriculum

The course of study will examine areas such as: Fundamentals of Analytical Psychology
Word Association Experiment
Psychopathology
Theory of Dream Interpretation
Comparative Study of Other Therapies
Symbolic and Archetypal Material
Comparative Religion
Cultural Anthropology

Analytic Work

Candidates are encouraged to work with both a male and female analyst during their training.

Notice 1. I understand that the training in Jungian analysis offered by OAJA will not, and cannot, automatically confer the legal right to practice as an analyst, psychotherapist or mental health therapist. I hereby release OAJA from any responsibility to confer this right. I accept the personal and ethical responsibility to acquire the legal right to practice where such requirements exist. I also agree not to designate myself as a Jungian analyst until I have successfully completed the training programme and have been accepted as a member of the International Association for Analytical Psychology.

Notice 2. The College of Registered Psychotherapists and Registered Mental Health Therapists of Ontario is expected to come into force in April 2013. - CONDENSED 2008 OAJA TRAINING REGULATIONS -

Candidates should consult the current Regulation Manual for full regulations

Tuition

From September 2013, all new candidates will be on a new 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance'. At this time, the cost of the 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance' is $3220.00 per semester. The new 'Standard Tuition Fee with Unlimited Attendance' is payable every semester they are enrolled in the OAJA training programme. All fees are subject to change in the future.

Programme Structure: Stage One

The first stage of training, leading to the Propadeuticum exams, will last a minimum of four semesters, during which candidates must have completed 150 hours of face-to-face analysis. All 150 hours must be with a member of OAJA. The counting of hours of the training analysis begin from September 1 of the first semester of enrolment. Throughout training, all candidates are required to have at least 25 hours of analysis per calendar year.

Instruction and Examinations

In general, lectures, seminars and workshops will be offered by Jungian analysts and others once per month over a long weekend (typically Thursday to Sunday), during two semesters: September to December and January to May. In addition, some coursework may be offered on other weekends. Such instruction will not be tied to specific Propadeuticum subjects (see below) but rather will be designed to provide an overall appreciation of the scope, theory and application of analytical psychology. A recommended reading list will be provided. Exams will be scheduled in October – December and April - June.

Since the acknowledged major component of training is a candidate's personal analysis, attendance at monthly events is not compulsory, but regular participation is strongly encouraged.

One paper on the interpretation of symbolic material will be required.

Practicum

Candidates must have completed a minimum of 400 hours supervised experience in a mental health facility before Final exams. At least 100 hours must be completed before the Propadeuticum exams. This practicum must be arranged by the candidate. The nature of the work (past or present) must be approved by the Director of Training. The purpose of this internship is to give candidates a chance to observe patients who suffer from severe psychiatric illnesses. It is expected that the internship will be arranged to allow for some degree of continuous contact with the patients, and that discussion with the supervisors and resident clinicians will help students deepen their own set of diagnostic skills

Propadeuticum Exams

Candidates may take the Propadeuticum after successful completion of the above requirements. They will be examined orally by an examiner in the presence of an observer. The examiner for each subject may be chosen by the candidate from a list provided by the Exam Committee, who will appoint a member of OAJA as observer. Evaluation will be based on:

- 1) theoretical knowledge
- 2) the ability to relate to and work with psychic material
- 3) the capacity to handle the examination encounter.

Candidates will be examined in the following subjects:

Fundamentals of Analytical Psychology (typology, complex theory, etc.) - 45 minutes

Dreams - 30 minutes

Fairy Tales and Mythology - 30 minutes

Cultural Anthropology - 30 minutes

Comparative Religion - 30 minutes

Psychopathology - 30 minutes

Neurosis - 30 minutes

There is a Propadeuticum Exams Application fee of $435. Successful completion of Propadeuticum exams in all subjects will be required before the candidate may apply to advance to Stage Two. Candidates who fail three or more exams will have to apply to their Selection Committee for permission to re-take them. Acceptance to Stage Two will depend on the recommendation of the candidate's Selection Committee following three individual interviews.

Programme Structure: Stage Two

The second stage of training, which leads to the Diploma exams, will last a minimum of four semesters, during which an additional 150 hours of face-to-face analysis with an IAAP member (not necessarily an OAJA analyst) is required. Throughout training, all candidates are required to have at least 25 hours of analysis per calendar year. In Stage 2, candidates are called "Advanced Candidates."

Association Experiment

Advanced Candidates will be required to perform an association experiment on a subject-person of their choice. A written paper on the results must be submitted to the Seminar Leader for approval.

Instruction

Ancillary lectures, seminars, and workshops will be offered as for candidates in Stage One, in a similar time frame. Again, one paper on the interpretation of symbolic material will be required.

Client Work

Before graduation, advanced candidates must accumulate a minimum of either 450 hours if they plan to practice in Ontario unless they are already registered with a College that grants them access to the Controlled Act of psychotherapy, or 300 hours with clients of their own, involving at least five analyses: one case of 80 hours minimum, one case of 50 hours minimum, and three cases of 20 hours minimum each. Written reports on each case must be submitted. All client hours must be completed with clients 18 years or older.

To take effect from the training year beginning September 2012, candidates who plan to practice in Ontario are required to have 450 client hours at the time of graduation unless they are already registered with a College that grants them access to the Controlled Act of psychotherapy. Candidates are still able to apply to take Diploma exams with 300 client hours and when all other Diploma exam requirements have been met as laid out in the training regulations.

A "Registration Track" training category will come into effect as of September 2012 to accommodate candidates planning to practice in Ontario who have completed all Diploma requirements and who need additional time to complete their 450 client hours

Supervision

Advanced candidates must complete a minimum of 100 hours of supervision with an IAAP analyst with at least 5 years' experience since graduation. At least 50 supervision hours must be with a member of OAJA. The choice of a non-OAJA supervisor will require the approval of the Director of Training. It is required that candidates work with both male and female analysts in supervision. Fees for supervision will be the responsibility of the candidate. The required frequency of supervision of a case is a minimum of one hour of supervision for every four hours of analytic work. All advanced candidates must have continuous supervision of all of their on-going training cases until graduation is confirmed.

Group Supervision

Candidates will be required to participate in at least 90 hours of group discussions of cases before graduation. Group Supervision is chaired by a Senior Analyst. Five presentations by candidates of their own case material will be required.

Thesis

Before graduation, candidates must submit a substantial thesis demonstrating their understanding of the theory and application of analytical psychology. Thesis topics must be approved by the Director of Training. Candidates will choose an advisor and two readers, all to be members of OAJA.

Diploma Exams

Candidates will be permitted to take the Diploma exams only after successful completion of all requirements, and with the approval of their Selection Committee after three individual interviews. There is a Diploma Exams Application fee of $870.

Written case reports must be submitted to the Director of Training who will assign a reader.

Advanced Candidates will be examined in the following subjects:

Fairy tales and Mythology - 45 minutes (OR 6-hour written)

Dreams - 45 minutes (OR 6-hour written)

Case Studies - 90 minutes; three examiners

Psychiatry - 45 minutes

The Process of Individuation - 45 minutes

Expressive Arts in the Analytic Process - 45 minutes

Thesis discussion - 60 minutes; advisor and two readers

In general, examiners will be members of OAJA chosen by the candidate, and observers (or readers) will be appointed by the Director of Training or Exam Committee.

Graduation

Upon successful completion of the programme, a Diploma in Analytical Psychology will be awarded, certifying that the recipient is deemed capable of working as a Jungian analyst. After the graduate has submitted an application for membership to the Ontario Association of Jungian Analysts and it has been approved, membership in the International Association for Analytical Psychology is conferred.
